CHANGING HUMAN NATURE. From Chicago Daily Socialist. There is one last refuge of every opponent of Socialism. After "dividing up." lack of "incentive." "breaking up the home" and a few other alleged objections have been demolished the valiant defender of things as they are hurls this last shot. "You can't change human nature." That is supposed to be a crushing retort, as weil as proof of a philosophical mind on the part of the objector. It is therefore not surprising that when Andrew Carnegie felt called upon to join the chorus of his class against Socialism he displayed his intellectual capacity to meet the problem by at once falling back on his age-old objection. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, who achieved fame in Chicago by his attack upon the teachers federation, and in the pattern of the surprising through the mails a reward for a fugitive politician.

HERE AND YONDER

A crowd of misguided men and women came down from Rock-view to fight a saloon petition. John Witmore had evidently exhibited the corner of a twenty dollar bill and forthwith our honorable county court got busy. If there is any thing that will cause our county court to "do business" it is a saloon-keepers $20 bill. The Rockview protest-ors returned home sadder, but probably none the wiser. The license was granted.

The Kicker now has an accurate measure by which it can gauge capitalist estimate of wocent girl into haunts of vice. Fred Warren, editor of the Ap-peal to Reason was fined $1,000 and sentenced to six months in jail for circulating through the mails a reward for a fugitive pol-
